

HOMESCHOOLING JOURNAL

BLANK DATES

Gypsy Gameschooler

I recommend using this journal to record what your kids worked on and played each day, rather than to plan in advance. You can plan in advance, but plans often change. If you just record what actually happened, you'll never need to make changes!

Gypsy Gameschooler

My Top Tips

to make this your best homeschooling year yet!

- 01 Start Simple
Actually, I prefer to keep it simple. But if you can at least start simple, you and your kids will be much less likely to burn out.
- 02 Don't be afraid to change things
Our kids are constantly changing, so what worked well last year, or even yesterday, might not work today. Siblings are also different.
- 03 When in doubt, take time off
I don't think I've ever heard an adult say, "I wish I hadn't had as much fun as a kid!" It's okay to take some time off to reset.
- 04 Unit studies are amazing!
It's easy to customize unit studies, so every child can work at their level and you don't lose your sanity.
- 05 Check out free print-and-play games!
There are free print-and-play for pretty much every subject. Check some out at GypsyGameschooler.com/Free-Games/
- 06 Books aren't everything
While I love books, there are many other ways to learn. Documentaries, field trips, and of course, games!

SUN

MON

TUE

WED

THU

FRI

SAT

Goals

What is most important this month?

What are your main goals this month? What do your kids want to study? What field trips do you have planned; can you work them into a unit study?

Goal: _____ 1

Actions: _____

Goal: _____ 2

Actions: _____

Goal: _____ 3

Actions: _____

Weekly Journal

Dates: _____

Here is where you want to record - after the fact - what games and books your kids interacted with, projects they worked on, and field trips they experienced.

SUN

BIG PROJECTS

MON

TUE

WED

IDEAS & INSPIRATION

THU

FRI

SAT

Daily Journal

Date: _____

DONE LIST

[illegible]

IDEAS & INSPIRATION

[illegible]